

CLINCH ACADEMY YOUTH WARRIOR CODE MONTHLY ASSESSMENT

We don't expect (as you shouldn't expect) your children to demonstrate these virtues PERFECTLY. None of us are perfect at any of these. What we do expect is that your children are making a consistent practice of putting on & demonstrating these virtues. The grading should be based on this idea. Do they practice consistently, sometimes or not regularly?

11 Warrior Virtues	Examples but not limited to...	Yes	Sometimes	No
Is your child consistently demonstrating respect in the home?	Practicing good manners. Using responses such as Sir, Ma'am, Please, Thank You and You're welcome. Helping to take care of the home...etc.
Is your child consistently demonstrating self-control in the home?	Restrains from doing something that they want to do but you know they shouldn't do.
Is your child consistently demonstrating Courtesy in the home?	Holding the door for someone, by politely saying "Hi", Smiling at others, helping others in need, by simply being friendly!
is your child consistently demonstrating Humility in the home?	If arguing with a sibling or friend over what to play, over a toy or movie to watch...Humility puts other peoples interest first, so that means that you should play their game, let them have the toy or watch their movie. When playing sports or games, you shouldn't brag but consider the feelings of the person who lost.
Is your child consistently demonstrating Gratitude in the home?	By saying thank you when someone does something for you. By returning a favor for someone who has helped you. By doing good things to those who have done good for you. Anything that demonstrates to others that you are glad that they are in your life.
Have you witnessed your child demonstrate more Courage?	Courage is when you do what you know to be right & good, even when you are afraid, nervous or uncomfortable.
Have you noticed your child demonstrate more Confidence?	Do they use good eye contact? Exhibit increased awareness and posture?
Do you feel your child growing in Trustworthiness & Responsibility.	Demonstrates honesty and responsibility. Follows through with things they agree to do. Safety minded. Follows rules. Doing everyday chores, school work, hygiene.
Is your child consistently demonstrating Patience in the home?	Doesn't interrupt conversation (hand on shoulder), waits quietly for their turn
Is your child consistently demonstrating Self-Discipline in the home?	Forces their self to do things they don't want to do but know they should.

Questions:

How often do I need to assess my children?

The children only really need to be assessed when they have completed all the other tasks on the “Levels of Success” chart for the level they are trying to achieve. However, this is a monthly success chart you can use at home if you like.

Do I assess every virtue every time I make an assessment?

I would, however, the most important virtues are the ones that they are being held accountable to for the level they are trying to conquer on the “Levels of Success” chart. If your children are on Level 1, then Respect & Self-Control are the most important. If they are working on level 2, then Respect & Self-Control must still be a big part of the package but Courtesy is now added in. As they continue to climb the ladder, all the previous virtues must still be assessed and passed to progress. It is good for them to see how they are doing in other areas too but not necessary.

Do I need to turn them in?

No you don't have to turn them in but you can. If your child has accomplished all the other levels of success requirements for their stripe, we will check in with you to see how they have been doing with these at home. We will take your word for it. If they are doing satisfactory, they will be rewarded with their new color stripe in class if they pass the leadership section according to their coaches.

Other:

Be a role model and practice the same virtues toward your children and each other. Don't use this program as a threat but as an encouragement to your children and help them along the way. Talk with them and even give them specific ways they can practice these virtues. Also assure them that no one is perfect and being perfect is not the goal. The goal is learning how to think of and to love others genuinely.
